

Charles H. Taylor, MD

Recently recognized in The Consumers' Guide to Top Doctors, Dr. Taylor founded the Taylor-High Clinic Center for Preventive Medicine in Atlanta, Georgia. After teaching at the Mayo Clinic, he served as Medical Director of the Emory Clinic Perimeter where he designed preventive evaluations and comprehensive intervention programs for top executives of Fortune 500 Companies.

As medical advisor for several Fortune 500 Corporations, Dr. Taylor sees a wide variety of corporate health issues and is considered innovative and pro-active in his problem solving abilities

Dr. Taylor is a frequent and popular speaker to corporations, professional groups, health promotion associations and is a regular guest on Health Matters a GNN radio show. He has been featured on numerous TV shows on topics from Heart Disease to cooking healthy meals. Dr. Taylor serves on the CDC Business & Expert Panel to develop and provide resources to states for setting guidelines and standards in the field of health promotion and preventative healthcare.

Dr. Taylor is well known for his clarity, practicality, inspiration and humor during consultation. He believes that through strong personal relationships you can uncover the underlying cause of disease and solve most health problems through preventive modalities. He prides himself on improving the health of his patients "without" drugs whenever possible.

Dr. Taylor received his B. S., Summa Cum Laude, from the University of Minnesota, St. Paul, MN and his M.D. at the University of Minnesota Medical School. He completed his internship and Residency at the St. Paul Medical Center, MN.

Dr. Taylor's academic honors include: Dean's List, J. L. Merriam Academic Scholarship, and the National Golden Key Honor Society at the University of Minnesota. Post Graduate honors include Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, Marion F. Sahr Academic Scholarship, Roger Dell Academic Scholarship, and the McAllister Medical Academic Scholarship at the University of Minnesota Medical School.

Dr. Taylor is a member of the American Academy of Family Practitioners, American Medical Association, Georgia Academy of Family Practice and American Heart Association, Georgia Affiliate. He is certified by the American Association of Family Practice, National Board of Medical Examiners and licensed by the State of Georgia.